Democratic Primary

Lawrence County Candidates Take Oath to Spend No Money.

The chairman of the various precinct committees of the Democratic party in Lawrence county held a large and enthusiastic meeting, at the Court House in this city last Saturday. The meeting was also well attended by candidates and their friends. The object of the gathering was two fold: the selection of a new county chairman and fixing the date for holding the primary to nominate candidates for the various county offices. The unanimous voice of the meeting was in favor of A. O. Carter for Chairman, and although he did not want the place Mr. Carter was persuaded to accept the thankless position. He has held it before and knows the hard, unremunerative work the place entails. No better selection could have been made.

The time appointed for the holding of the primary is Saturday, April 17, and the date seemed to satisfy all concerned.

One feature, novel in political meetings in this county, characterized the meeting last Saturday. It was the proposition made and accepted that the various candidates should make oath that they would not use money, liquor or anything of value to secure the nomination or an election. The candidates will all take, and we believe keep, their oaths in this regard. It's tough on the blood-suckers, but nobody has any kindly feeling for them.

THE OATH.

"We, the undersigned candidates for the Democratic nominations for the various county and district offices of Lawrence county, Kentucky, respectfully request the Democratic Executive Committee, of Lawrence County, Kentucky, to adopt, for the purpose of governing the Democratic county primary, to be held in Lawrence county in 1909, the following rules:

"If any candidate, who has qualified and entered into said primary, shall either by himself or by his friends, either by his direction or consent, either directly or indirectly, give loan or promise to any voter, or anyone for any voter, money, property, spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or anything of value, for the purpose of promoting or influencing his nomination on or after the date, or fail on this date to call in or revoke anything of value heretofore promised or placed for such purpose, the vote of such candidate thus offering shall be thrown out and not counted, and on no account shall he be declared the nominee for the office for which he has announced. This provision includes meals, necessities, commodities or luxuries of any kind whatever promised or given indirectly or directly to or for any voter or person working for said candidate in said primary."

Must Take Oath.

"Second—Before any candidate shall have his name printed upon the official ballot for said primary, he shall take the following oath before a person authorized to administer the oaths, viz: 'I do solemnly swear that I will neither in person, either directly, or indirectly, give, loan or promise, to any voter, or to anyone for him, any money, property, spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or anything of value, for the purpose of promoting or influencing my nomination or election, and that I will not permit anyone to do any of these things for my benefit by assenting or acquiescing thereto. I solemnly swear that I will not reimburse any person in any way whatever for any expenditure made in the Democratic primary, to be held in Lawrence County, Kentucky, in 1909, for me or on my account.'"

"Third—Before a certificate of nomination shall be issued to the candidate for any office receiving the largest number of votes in the said primary, he shall be required to take the following oath, viz:

"I do solemnly swear that I, have neither in person nor by direction, nor through my friends, either directly or indirectly, since February 27th, 1909, given, loaned or promised any voter, or anyone for him, any money, property, spirituous vinous or malt liquors or anything of value, for the purpose of promoting or influencing my election or nomination, and no one to my knowledge has done any of these things for me. I solemnly swear that I will not reimburse any person in any way whatever, for any expenditures made on my account of for my benefit, in the Lawrence County Democratic primary, held on the 17th day of April, 1909, and that I have been a just and true citizen."

"The oaths were taken in writing and lodged in the city clerk's office of Lawrence county for safe-keeping and the person administering said oaths shall safely keep same until directed by the Democratic committee, or any member of same, to lodge said oaths with the county clerk."

To Republican Voters.

I have decided to enter the race for the Republican nomination for Circuit Court Clerk of Lawrence county, and I respectfully solicit your support.

To those Republicans who want a nominee who can win in November I believe I can truthfully say that I can be elected, and I have good reasons for this belief.

Also, I invite you to investigate my qualifications, habits, and my record as a Republican.

The time is too short for me to see all the voters before the primary and I take this means of putting myself before you.

RICE MCCLURE.

CITY COUNCIL.

Marshal Resigns and Dave Wellman is Elected.

Council met Tuesday evening with the following present: Augustus Snyder, Mayor; C. C. Hill, R. L. Vinson, C. B. Wellman, Dr. W. A. Bromley, O. S. Wilson, Wm. Justice.

Delinquent list of Marshal F. D. Marcum was presented and accepted. Also, his claim for $210.87 was allowed and credited on his tax account.

The clerk read a financial statement of the city and same was ordered published. It will appear in the next issue of this paper.

The license on lunch and soft drink stands was reduced from $10 to $5 per day.

Ex-Marshall L. D. Boggs made a payment on balance due city on taxes collected, and this leaves $57 yet unpaid. Mr. Boggs asked for six months further time and this was granted.

The license of $10 per year on bowling alleys, etc., was made to apply to box ball and shooting galleries. Minors are prohibited from entering these places without written consent from parents or guardians.

The resignation of F. D. Marcum as marshal was presented and accepted. Mr. Marcum resigned over the protest of his friends and council.

Dave Wellman, who has been serving satisfactorily as deputy marshal for several months, was elected marshal and at once executed bond. His securities are Robert Dixon and Al. Wellman, his father. It is believed that he will make an efficient officer.

A proposition to allow dirt to be moved from the streets by a citizen or citizens under the direction of the Improvement Committee was lost.

Some people ask us if there is any law against killing rabbits now. We know of no such law, but the fact is, that rabbits are not good after the first of February, and you are liable to kill a mother and let the young ones starve to death. Give them a rest until the young ones are old enough to eat.—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

FUNERAL

Of Frank Blevins Had Largest Attendance Ever Seen in Ashland.

All that is mortal of Conductor Frank Blevins rests in the beautiful Ashland Cemetery. Followed to his untimely grave by the largest funeral cortege ever witnessed in that city, the body through which the bullet of the assassin sped its cruel way was lowered into its narrow home—the "windowless palace of the dead." He is gone forever from human sight. His faults, whatever they might have been, are covered by the mantle of charity, and his countless friends will remember only the shining virtues which endeared him to so many. What those virtues were is known to all who knew Frank Blevins, and they will be enduring monuments to the memory of that courageous soul.

Frank Blevins was buried last Sunday afternoon. The home from which he went to his death on that sad Tuesday evening was the mecca to which hundreds went on that last day of winter. There, almost buried from sight under the extraordinary wealth of flowers lay the dead conductor. He looked like one in peaceful sleep, and the silent prayer of many went that after life's stormy days his eternity might be peaceful and blessed.

Escort by large numbers of his brother Elks and members of the Brotherhood of Railway Men, the body was taken to the Christian Church. The building was filled to its utmost capacity, and not less than fifteen hundred people filled the square adjacent to the church. The floral offerings were placed upon the pulpit platform, and they made a most beautiful display. Every procurable bud and blossom was there, aggregated into appropriate and lovely designs. Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Palatka, Louisa and other towns near Ashland had sent offerings. The one from this city elicited many expressions of admiration.

The religious services were all that could be desired. The Rev. William Dunn Ryan paid a most touching and eloquent tribute to the hero whose body lay in the casket before him. Nothing which he might say, he declared, could alter the state of him who had been stricken down in the discharge of his duty. "But," he said, "God loved a courageous man, and the wisdom of His mercy was like the wisdom of the sea." The music which the church was very beautiful, filling the church with melody and touching every heart with its tender strains. From the church the oft-told and never found wanting hero was borne to his last resting place. May the clouds of the valley rest lightly upon this martyred man.

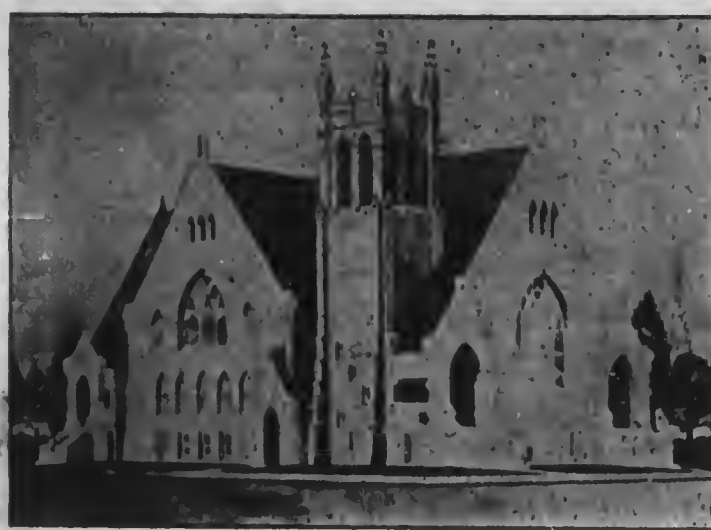

A New Connection.

The Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio a new railroad extending from Dante, Va., to Bostle, N. C., has installed a regular train service, and now has plans for a connection to be made with the Big Sandy division of the Chesapeake and Ohio. This will form a new lake-to-sea board route and work has already been commenced on building the connection. The objective point of the new line on the seacoast is Charleston.

Meeting Closed.

The Baptist protracted meeting which began here nearly three weeks ago closed last Wednesday night. The attendance was very large throughout, and interest continued unabated to the close. Twenty-two persons united with the church by profession of faith, and by letter.

The wife of Seneca X. Swimme died at Kessler hospital in Huntington recently, of consumption. The body was taken to Pikeville for burial. Mr. Swimme was formerly a Methodist preacher and belonged to the Ashland Conference.

Above is a picture of the new building to be erected by the M. E. Church South at Palatka, Ky. It will be completed in time for use of the West Virginia Conference, which meets there in September. The property will be worth $20,000.

J. B. Powell.

J. B. Powell, a well known citizen of Boyd county, and a man known to very many Big Sandy people, died at his home at Kavanaugh last Sunday afternoon. His decease was the result of pneumonia and his sickness was not of long duration. He was buried the following Tuesday afternoon in the graveyard of the Kavanaugh church, where so many of his kindred are buried. Mr. Powell was an Odd Fellow and interment was made under the auspices and with the funeral rites of that ancient and useful order. Louisa lodge, to the number of about 25, went down and assisted in the funeral of the deceased brother. He was a member of Buchanan lodge and this body had charge of the interment. Many of the craft from Whites Creek, Catlettsburg and other down the river places were also present. The Rev. W. B. F. Ball, pastor of the Kavanaugh circuit conducted the religious part of the funeral.

Mr. Powell was 52 years old and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Nancy Powell, who is 91 years old. He left three children; Mrs. James Rice, of Holden, W. Va., Mrs. Lahe Compton, of Ashland, and Wm. Powell, of Portsmouth.

THE PREWITTS

Arrested for the Murder of Frank Blevins.

From the moment the C. & O. railway people learned that Frank Blevins had been assassinated in Whitehouse, up to the present hour, every man upon whom suspicion could possibly attach, was maddened. Their slightest motion was observed and noted, no action passing unnoticed. This espionage has borne fruit in the arrest of the stepson of Alfred Prewitt. The young man is called Jack Prewitt, but he is, as the News explained last week, a son of Ellisha Ferguson, who was murdered by Jack Marcum.

Prewitt, as he is best known, was acting suspiciously in Catlettsburg last Saturday, and the vigilance of those who were watching him was redoubled. The fellow had bought a suit of clothes and was heard to make inquiries about the cost of a trip to Oklahoma, and the first thing he knew he was in the Boyd county jail. Later, his father, who is in Kings Daughters' hospital in Catlettsburg, was placed under a double guard.

The preliminary examination of young Prewitt on the charge of having fired the shot which caused the death of Conductor Blevins will be held next Monday. The Commonwealth is, of course, silent regarding the nature of the proof that there will be enough to convict the principals and accessories.

Of Interest to Big Sandy.

Through the efforts of Congressman Hughes, assisted by Senators Ekins, an amendment was secured to the rivers and harbors bill providing for a survey of Dam #29, Ohio river, just below the mouth of Big Sandy river. This is of considerable importance to Big Sandy river interests.

OLD FIDDLER'S

Contest at Court House in Louisa March 26th.

There will be held in the court house in Louisa on Saturday night, March 20, 1909, an "Old Fiddlers' Contest" in which a number of fiddlers will compete for a prize of $10 in gold.

Each "Fiddler" will be expected to play four or five times, alternating with the other players, selecting his own tunes and play them to suit himself and at the close, competent judges will decide who has won and to the winner there will be given a ten dollar gold piece. There will be charged an admission fee of 15c and 25c for all who attend except the contestants, and the proceeds will be used in buying teachers' desks and chairs for the new school building of the Kentucky Normal College.

Everybody come and enjoy a pleasant evening and the consciousness of knowing that the small admission fee that you pay goes into your own home school.

For further particulars call on t. address Noah Ciseo, Louisa, Ky.

Cupid's Capers.

The hymeneal affairs of this county have been quite numerous of late, and county clerks, ministers and judges are correspondingly happy. Going back to the 22nd ultimo we find that on that auspicious day David Castle and Miss Virgie Moore were united at Matthe by J. M. Berry, Justice of the Peace. On the 25th of the same brief month the Rev. Albert Ratcliff joined together Miss Lucy Derfield and Mr. Frank Peters. We also find recorded that in the same short month at Mazie, this county, Shannon Hay took unto himself in wedlock Miss Lissie Gibson, the Rev. M. A. Hay pronouncing the fateful words. This hazy, many affair must have somewhat obscured the senses of those concerned in it, occurred on February 29th. But under the circumstances they are excusable.

On March the second Robt. Stephens, of West Virginia, took unto himself a Jewell—Miss Minnie, also of our neighbor State across the river. The ceremony occurred at the court house, Judge T. S. Thomson officiating. The Judge is quite popular as a splicer.

Our colored friends have caught the fever, as you will believe when you read—no pun intended—that on the second day of this month Fred Fwing was married to Neva Reed, the Rev. S. F. Reynolds officiating.

Dr. T. D. Burgess and wife and two children arrived here yesterday from Matewan, W. Va. Repairs are about completed on their handsome residence and they will take up their abode there at once. Dr. W. H. Burgess, who also was located at Matewan, has moved to Williams.

Leslie Hill, of this place, who enlisted in the United States navy in July, 1907, has been honorably discharged from the service. He arrived home last Friday looking and feeling well. Readers of the News will remember a well written letter from him which was published in these columns some months ago.

SPROUSE CASE

Reversed by Court of Appeals and Ordered Re-Tried.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the judgment of the Circuit Court in the case of John Sprouse, who was given a life sentence in the penitentiary for burning the home of Chas. Cooper and two of his children at Cherokee, this county.

The Court of Appeals says the verdict is not justified by the evidence and remands the case to the lower court with instructions to acquit Sprouse if the evidence is the same upon another trial.

The crime for which Sprouse and the Kelleys were indicted attracted much attention and aroused great indignation and the outcome of the cases will be watched with interest.

In Durance Vile.

On the night of the 19th of last month Farris Moore, of Little Blaine, attended church at Spencer Chapel. While there Monroe Daniels was on the outside of the building, examining the horses hitched to the fence. Moore's errand looked good to him. In fact he became so attached to it that when he left the premises the nag went with him. From some reason suspicion pointed to Daniels, and a party of "Mules" found and followed the trail left by man and beast.

They followed it to Noah Bar-chett's, on Tom's creek in Johnson county, where Daniels had sold the horse for forty-five dollars. Continuing the hunt they found the thief last Sunday morning, and by night he was safe in the keeping of Jailer Burton.

OIL WELL

On Three Mile Will be Drilled at Once.

Mr. A. C. Smith now has his oil well rig at the site selected for operation on Three Mile creek, four miles east of Louisa. The work of setting up the machinery is now in progress and the work of drilling will start at the earliest possible day.

The machinery is all new and of the best design.

The first well will be drilled on the Walbridge lands. Mr. Smith hopes to carry on extensive prospecting in the section if sufficient encouragement is given him.

The Bishop's Service.

On Tuesday night last the Rt. Rev. L. W. Burton, of the Episcopal Church, held service and preached in the M. E. Church, this city. A very large congregation listened to a fine discourse, one of the best the Bishop has delivered in Louisa. After the sermon the Holy Communion was celebrated.

Special Sermon March 14th.

Prof. E. M. Kennison, of the Kentucky Normal College, will preach a sermon at the M. E. Church South on Sunday morning, March 14th, of special interest to students. His subject will be along the line of Christian Education. Everybody invited.

At a dance at Dock's creek, four miles from Catlettsburg, Cecil Disburn and Ralph Stanley quarreled, which resulted in young Disburn being seriously stabbed and Stanley losing one ear, which was cut off when struck with a beer bottle. Both of the young men are in a serious condition.

Clyde L. Miller, of this place was elected Trustee in the bankruptcy case of C. B. Bromley, by the creditors, who met in Ashland last week. He will sell the stock on March 15th as shown by advertisement published in this issue.

One of the latest curiosities to be brought to the Enquirer office is a petrified ear of corn—or nubbin, rather. The density is great, and it is as perfect in outline as any stunted growth of corn you could find anywhere. This rare specimen, which was found on the farm of J. T. Cook, in this county measures about six inches in circumference and a little over three inches in length—and, most remarkably strange, it has not either the name or date of birth or death of Abraham Lincoln or Daniel Boone carved on it anywhere. Not a scratch to show that it was even munched on by hogs belonging to the two late great celebrities.—Campbellsville Enquirer.

To find in Kentucky a man who has never cast a vote at any election, either national, state or county, is to discover a refutation of the adage "There is nothing new under the sun," says the Bowling Green Review. Such a man lives, in the person of Josiah Morris, whose home is in the Woodbury section of Warren county. Not in the matter of exercising his right of suffrage alone is Mr. Morris unusual, but he was never identified with the courts of the State in any capacity except upon one occasion when he gave testimony as a witness in a trial suit. He is not a member of any church or fraternal organization. Mr. Morris is a refined gentleman, a reader of the newspapers and consequently well informed.

The editor of Hyden Thousandsticks who is working incessantly to bring about improved conditions in the mountains, brings the following indictment against his home county, Leslie:

There is not a county in the State that has a worse road system than Leslie. Quoting an old citizen: "The roads of Leslie county are in a worse condition now than fifteen years ago." Since January 1, 1907, there have been seven homicides committed in Leslie county. The court records show that we have six men indicted for murder and that their cases are now pending trial, and a good many other felonies.

There have been for the last 10 years more moonshine stills cut up by the Government officials and more moonshine whiskey made within a radius of 10 miles along the border line of Leslie and Perry counties than about the vicinity of Wooten, Big and Mace's creek than any other place in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky of the same size. It is also a fact that our good (?) County Judge, who has been serving us for the last ten years, is a citizen and housekeeper in this vicinity.

DR. T. C. BURTON

Sends Us Another Breezy Letter From Windy Kansas.

Holshington, Kans., Feb. 19.

To Thee News:

I suppose some of my friends think me derelict of duty, but I do not plead guilty to the charge. I have been busy. I appreciate an opportunity to scribble to the NEWS, as well as to peruse its columns. It is better than an individual letter, as it gives all the news over the county.

But my, haven't we lots of people hungry for pie in Lawrence county? Or, in common parlance, isn't everybody wanting to run for office? Brig Harris of Catlettsburg is sure to be your next representative for Lawrence and Boyd counties, and I am coming back to Kentucky to "stump" the district for him. Brig is my old schoolmate, and has "made good in everything."

In looking over last week's issue of the NEWS, I saw a letter from my old friend Stant Dean, way down in the "show me" State. It did me good to read it because he was a neighbor to me in our boyhood days. We used to work on those neighboring farms where the clads stood on edge, and some places hanging over. But if the boys of that country come to visit him or me they will see a different country altogether.

Well do I remember when I was 17 years old, I went to Louisa to pass an examination for a teacher's certificate to teach school. There I met my old friend J. R. Dean, who was then our County Superintendent, and who informed me after my work was done, that I was "all right," and from that day on I always regarded him as a special friend. However, I secured my certificate, and I went to Irish Creek where I ruled as a pedagogue, but my greatest difficulty was to keep some of the girls from chewing tobacco—of course they don't do that on Irish creek now.

Uncle Tip Moore was another good old friend of mine, and I used to like to "heck" him when he said such scathing things about the Republicans during a campaign.

Mr. John Hackworth, of your city, was another good friend of mine and has given me aid when I could not help myself.

I could enumerate many in my home country, who gave me aid and encouragement when I was weak and in need.

I never forget those, who by kind words and good counsel, served as an impetus to put me farther on in life. My life has been one of toil, but that is no disgrace, and casts no reflections on anyone who was interested in me. I admire the boy, the man, who has had to work. Your Probate Judge, Hon. T. S. Thompson, deserves great credit, for he, like myself as one of my school boys and I feel that my work in the teachers' realm, only for him, has not been in vain.

There are many other of my pupils filling important places in life, some are teachers, some are doctors, some are merchants, and others fill other places of trust and responsibility. I just love to meditate and live my life over by those pleasant reflections. I expect to pay a visit to my old home this year, and I hope to meet and enjoy the pleasant associations of many of those who have always stood by me.

Listen, hear me, and should my friend sojour in the west he will find me the same person, located on Main street, Holshington, Kansas, just two blocks north of depot.

I have so often wondered why any young man would remain in the east, when the west offers such great opportunities to him. We are not in the west. We are in 12 miles of the center of Kansas, and in twenty miles of the geographical center of the United States. So we live in the very hub of this Republic. The greatest and grandest country known to civilized man.

Excuse this reminiscent letter, and will hope to write again. Very Truly, Hog Cholera Serum.

Commissioner of Agriculture, M. C. Rankin has been in consultation with Director M. A. Seovell, of the Experiment Station, Frankfort, in regard to providing the hog raisers of Kentucky with the serum which has been proven in tests to be a positive cure for hog cholera.

Commissioner Rankin says that complete tests have been made, and in no case has the serum failed to accomplish its purpose. He is very anxious to arrange to supply the serum free to the hog raisers, but found that the cost at present will be prohibitive. He says that the expense is about thirty cents per hog. He arranged with Director Seovell to have supplies of serum furnished at cost to those hog raisers who apply at the experiment station.

W. B. Lance, Chief of Police, of Pittsburg, Kansas, is in the city, he having come here to bring George Adams a former conductor on the C. and O. who has been wanted by the Kentucky authorities for nearly two years, under a charge of committing criminal assault upon a young girl in Ashland. At the time of the alleged assault Adams managed to make a safe get away, but the State offered a reward of $200 for his apprehension. All the peace officers along the river made an earnest effort to capture him but were unsuccessful, his whereabouts not having been known until Chief Lance turned up here Thursday night, having the much wanted refugee in charge whom he turned over to Sheriff Geiger and was locked up to await further legal proceedings in his case.—Catlettsburg Tribune.

Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance and Spasms, are all nervous diseases. They have been cured in so many instances with Dr. Miles' Nervine that it is reasonable to conclude that it is almost sure to cure you. With nervous diseases of a severe type, persistent use has almost invariably resulted in a complete cure or lasting benefits, worth many times the cost of the remedy. The best evidence you can get of its merits is to write to those who have used it. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Home Circle Column.

A Column Dedicated To Tired Mothers as They Join The Home Circle.

We know the man, the mere grip who whose hand puts new life and strength into us, and the woman whose brave, cheery smile—amidst dis-appointment and trouble—makes us ashamed to dispare and to give up. And why should we not resemble them? It is, surely, better to be like a bright, cheerful fire, at which our friends can warm and revive their drooping hearts, than like the proverbial wet blanket which effectually, put out the love of fame and hope.

A story is told of a married lady who compraed her husband to a hand some piano lamp that he had presented to her. Her husband felt quite flattered until she mentioned the particulars of the resemblance. "Well," she said, "you know my dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, it is not remarkably brilliant, requires a good deal of attention, a sometimes instead of its legs, liable to explode when he is out at bedtime, and is bound to smok

Have your standard and live up to it. Set that standard according to your own income and your own judgment of what is best for you and yours. This trying to live up to the standard of others is what destroys the happiness of many households. Families with a income of $1,000 a year make a desperate effort to live up to the standard of those with $5,000 and those with $15,000 try to imitate those with $20,000 a year. We have such a foolish fear of what our neighbors will do or think or say. We have the moral force to fix our own standard and live up to it as we ought. The courage of one's convictions, the independence of one's sense of what is best for one's individual self and family are valuable possessions of this age of artificiality and striving for effect.

What scene can be more lovely on earth, more like the heavenly home, and more pleasing to God than that of a pious family kneeling with one accord around the home altar, and waiting in their supplications to their father in heaven. How sublime the act of those parents who thus kneel and pray for the blessing of God upon their household. How lovely the scene of a pious mother who rather than her little ones around her at the bedside and teaches them the beauties of prayer. And what a safeguard is this devotion against all the machinations of Satan. It gives tone and intensity to their effections and sympathy to their hopes and interests; it increases their happiness, and takes away the poignancy of their grief and sorrow. It avails much, therefore, both for time and eternity. Its voice has sent many a poor prodigal home to his father's house. Its answer has often been, "This man was born here." The child kneeling beside its pious mother and pouring forth its innocent prayer to God, must attract the notice of the heavenly host, and receive into its soul fine power of new life.

Old Adam is still alive and as ready to put all the blame of his failures on the woman as he was in the garden of Eden. They would like to marry if they could find some handsome little lady just suited to their taste and that is to stay at home while he is having a good time, gassing on the street or at the lodge or club room, and if these wives could follow their illegitimate lords they would find where their lodges met oftenest. So many men have to be away on important business so wives and children just see to the chores and see that the stock is all watered and, for business is pressing and I must be off. He goes without a look to see how tired and worn out his better half looks, or take a thought of the days and days she stay at home longing for the loving word that he need to pour in her ear before they were married. If he comes home he is too sleepy to talk and is cross because she would like to tell you of some of the trials of the day. Oh, yes, women must always be sweet and pleasant and make the home happy, and see that the children don't worry poor tired papa. She can bear it all day and half the night, but business is so much harder than worry, and work is on the wife. Of course there are exceptions to this picture, yet we know that there are a multitude of cases that are no exception, and in the cause of humanity and justice we write, that, preadventure, we might make some thoughtless one think, and remedy this great injustice to one that

It is said that there is skeleton in every household. The skeleton is locked up—put away in a cupboard—and rarely seen. Only the people inside the house know of its existence. But the skeleton, nevertheless, cannot be long concealed. It comes to light some way or another. The most common skeleton is poverty. Poverty is a great secret, kept at any pains by one-half of the world from the other half. When there is nothing laid by—nothing saved to relieve sickness when it comes—nothing to alleviate the wants of old age, then is the skeleton hidden away in many a cupboard. We do not value money for its own sake, and we should be the last to encourage a miserly desire to hoard among any class, but we cannot help recognizing in money the means of life, the means of comfort, the means of maintaining an honest independence. We would therefore, recommend every young man and woman who read this paper to begin life by learning to save; to lay up for the future a certain portion of every week's earnings, he it little or much; to avoid consuming every week or every year the earnings of that week or year; and we counsel them to do this, as they would avoid the horrors of dependence, destitution and beggary. It is a true saying that a penny in the purse is better than a friend at court. The first penny saved is a step in the world. The fact of its being saved and laid up indicates self-denial and forethought, prudence and wisdom. It may be the germ of future happiness the beginning of independence.

It's best to do the work given us to do, no matter how distasteful it may be, just as well as it can be done, not mechanically, but with the whole heart. If it is a round of household duties day after day, make it pleasant by scattering gleams of sunshine along the way. Making a bright spot here and a cosy corner there. Let the arrangement of your table be a bit of artistic grouping, make it a picture with a new setting every day. It really doesn't cost much to be happy, if we only know how.

STOMACH DISTRESS.

And all Misery from Indigestion Vanishes in Five Minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything to eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards. If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat don't seem to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50c case of Pape's Diapiesin and take one triangle after supper tonight. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness, or intestinal griping. This will go and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath and nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of dyspepsia or indigestion.

Items of Interest About Louisa's Prosperous School.

Miss Dora Wireman, of Magoffin county has enrolled as a student.

Misses Susas and Sadie Crank, of Fallsburg, were visitors of the Normal department last week.

On Saturday evening, March 20th, an old fiddlers' contest will be held in the court house, which will no doubt afford great amusement to the people of Louisa and the students of the K. N. C. The admission charged will be 25 and 15c and the proceeds will go to purchase teachers' desks and chairs for the new college building. At least four contestants—four gentlemen and one lady—will enter the contest which will be a grand one. The fiddlers secured for the occasion are considered the best in Eastern Kentucky and we all look forward to a delightful time.

The Jefferson Debating Society will meet in open session and the following will be debated Saturday afternoon, Resolved: That the United States Republic is greater than was the ancient Rome. Affirmative speakers, E. W. Pendleton, Cordelia Stewart, Ed Allen and Will Caudill. Negative speakers, B. S. Kennard, Daisy Patrick, Mr. Preston and Dock Jordan. The meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, at 1:30, March 6th. All are invited to come.

A students' reunion was held at the public school building last Saturday afternoon and was largely attended. Several of the citizens of Louisa were present and all reported a good time. The organized clubs elected their speakers as follows: Lawrence county, Dock Jordan, B. F. Fugate and E. W. Pendleton; Floyd county, Ed Allen, Chas. Morgan, Maggie Martin, and S. G. Goodman; Magoffin, R. S. Montgomery, Joseph Howard and Emery Wireman; Johnson, Willie Caudill. Most all the speakers responded in short speeches.

Several other students lent a charm to the occasion by their enthusiastic speaking. The faculty honored the students with their presence and each one made an appropriate and encouraging address. The Rev. Mr. Hutchinson was there and addressed us in his usual elegant and forceful style. The reunion began immediately after the debate and E. W. Pendleton, President of the debating, presided of the reunion. The loyalty and zeal made manifest in the students probably tells more plainly than anything else of the good work being done by and for them.

EASY TO MIX

This Simple Recipe for Didney or Bladder Trouble or Rheumatism

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription which is said to be a positive remedy for backache or kidney or bladder derangement, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless and can be obtained at small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with good results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backaches, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood
the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

A HURRY UP CALL.
Quick, Mr. druggist, quick—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses hurry. Baby's burned himself, terribly—Johnnie cut his foot with the axe —May's scalded, Pa can't walk from piles—Billie has boils—and my corn ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. It's the greatest healer on earth. Sold by A. M. Hughes.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS.
Has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success today demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system.
Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to slight your health. Electric Bitters will never be forgotten. May the Lord bless you all.

The Louisa Coal Company has been awarded the contract for the "tender fuel" and also the fuel for the entire Big Sandy division of the C. & O. railway which will in due time amount to an additional output of our mines of about 300 tons per day. This contract covers a period of three years and is considered quite a lucky thing for this company in face of the fact that there are so many other coal fields in the Big Sandy Valley. This contract is due to the superior quality of Torchlight coal. And just here we may say that arrangements are being perfected whereby we will load a fleet of barges every week to be delivered along the Ohio river by the boats handling barges loaded with coal. So look out for the delivering of the first barge load of Torchlight coal.

FOR ASSESSOR.

A Friend of Charley Cooper's Makes Plea for Him.

Mr. Editor:
In looking over the names of candidates the one that appeals to me strongly for consideration is the name of Charley Cooper for Assessor.
You will recall that he is the man who had his house and belongings including three of his children burned up, and himself and wife barely escaped with their lives.

He asks us to give him a small office that he may support the remnant of his loved ones until he can get a little start again. Those who know him bear witness that he is well qualified.

The people of this county have never failed to respond to a deserving call for help, and I believe you will do so in this instance.

Mr. Cooper lives in that section of the county that should be recognized in making up the Democratic ticket for county offices.

Let us all drop a ballot for Charley Cooper for Assessor on the day of the primary and we can and will better that night.

They cure backache
They cure kidney ills.

G. W. Pack, Louisa, Ky., says: I worked on the railroad for over four years and the heavy strain weakened my kidneys. Last May while doing some heavy work a pain seized me in my back and it felt as if someone had thrust a knife into me. I nearly fainted, and after that time, any work that necessitated bending, caused me to suffer severely. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally recommended to me and the first dose greatly strengthened my back. When I had taken

RIDICULOUS

Story in Portsmouth Paper, Based on a Louisa Incident.

An incident, unpleasant enough in itself without any fantastic and fictitious trimmings, which occurred in this city a few weeks ago has been related in various newspapers and in various ways. About the worst distortion, however, is the following from the Portsmouth Times.

Misunderstandings ending in blows are liable to occur, and do occur frequently, and not much is thought of it, but because such a thing occurred in "the mountains" it is heralded abroad by the ignorant, greatly to the disgust of all who are acquainted with the facts.

The "great husky mountaineer with a bad look in his eye, and whose voice came out of the depths of a broad massive chest," is probably 6 feet 6, and his voice is commensurate with his size, sounding like anything but "a bull-like bellow." Note the language this reporter puts into the mouth of this "husky mountaineer": "I be." Why, this didn't occur in Vermont, it happened in the State where they say "I am." The writer who puts such language into the mouth of a Kentuckian knows very little of what he is telling. But read the following:

E. J. Collins was called to Louisa by the paper's representative of that community who said some of the debt were getting bad and he would like to have someone to help him clear them up. Collins hadn't any idea of what he was going up against when he started out to collect from a man connected with a hotel. He found the man all right and found him to be a great husky mountaineer with a bad look in his eye and whose voice came out of the depths of a broad massive chest.

"Are you Mr. ———?" politely inquired Collins.

"I be. What can I do for you?" replied the man scrutinizing the collector in an altogether unfriendly fashion.

Collins showed him the bill against him and asked payment on it. In an instant he was nearly frightened out of his wits by the Louisa man sounding a bull-like bellow.

"No you ain't no collector, you're a revenue spy, that's what you are I had one of them tarantula fellows up here a week ago spyin' around, and when I told him to clear out he went and sent you back. Once for all, I tell you there ain't nothin' around here that needs your attention, so clear out."

With that he opened the door and assisted Mr. Collins to the sidewalk by the use of his boot. Collins retaliated by swearing out a warrant for the arrest of his assailant, who paid $11.20 for the kick. Of course, after he had found out that he had been mistaken in his man, the citizen calmed down, paid his bill and apologized, but Mr. Collins says he can "feel him" yet.

Next Legislature.

The fact that some of the most important legislation which has been considered by a Kentucky General Assembly in many terms will come before the body which convenes next January, naturally lends much interest to the prospective personnel of that gathering of colons. This will be the first General Assembly to hold its session in the new Capitol building, and a number of the members who composed the body which held the last sessions in the old building have a matter of pride to belong to the body which will convene first in the handsome new building, which will be the seat of the State Government by the time the first Monday in next January rolls around.

It is contended by politicians who are acquainted with the conditions in Kentucky that the 1910 General Assembly will be more firmly Democratic than was the body of 1908. This is due in a measure to the fact that many of the usually reliable Democratic districts were captured by the Republicans in the Wilson landslide of 1907. The further fact that the county officials are to be elected throughout the State this fall will prove of material assistance to the Democratic candidates for Representative and Senator, for it will increase interest in the ticket and serve to bring out the party strength to the polls.

Although the election does not take place until next November, over one-third of the legislative districts have made their nominations, and there are but few other Democratic Senators to be nominated.

So well defined has the junk-up of the next House been so far this early that five candidates for Speaker are in the field, and there are prospects of still others.

Strength of the Local Paper.

The local newspaper should be found in every home. No child will grow up ignorant who can be taught to appreciate the home paper. It is the stepping stone to intelligence in all those matters not to be learned in books.

Give your children a foreign paper which contains not one word about any person, place or thing which they ever saw, or perhaps never heard of, and how can you expect them to be interested? But let them have the home paper and read of persons whom they meet, and places with which they are familiar, and soon an interest is awakened which increases with every daily arrival of the local paper.

Thus a habit of reading is formed, and those children will read the papers all their lives and become intelligent men and women, a credit to their ancestors, strong in their knowledge of the world as it is today.

FARMERS INSTITUTE

For State of Kentucky, Attended by a Lawrence County Citizen.

Elizabethtown, Ky., Feb. 26.—Having been present at the Fourth Annual Farmers' Institute, of Kentucky, I deem it right as a delegate from Lawrence county should briefly make a report through your paper of the most important gathering to all the farmers within the State.

The regular routine business of the Institute was transacted with dispatch until it came to the election of members of the State Board of Agriculture from the Third and Seventh Agricultural districts, which are comprised of lines same as the Appellate districts. Here the Institute assumed the form of or appearance of a political convention and furnished an exhibition of Kentucky's oratory.

F. Blackburn, of Stanton, Ky., was elected member of the State Board of Agriculture from this, the Seventh district, and H. M. Baird, of Breckinridge county, was elected from the second district for the regular term of four years.

The regular program was then taken up and notwithstanding the downpour of rain delegates came pouring in from all parts of the State, and farmers and citizens from this part of the State were in very liberal attendance until the seating capacity of the opera house was taxed to its utmost. In addition to the usual topics discussed pertaining directly to Kentucky agriculture, a resolution was introduced and unanimously adopted and recommending the common schools of Kentucky. And this we think is Kentucky's greatest need. There are now but three States in the union where Agriculture in some form is not required by law to be taught in the public schools, Kentucky being one of them.

Elizabethtown gave a pledge to the State Board of Agriculture to take care of both the regular delegates and visitors which promise was fulfilled to the letter. The next meeting will be held in the city of Frankfort during the regular session of the next legislature and should be attended by all who can possibly attend.

The subject of good roads was discussed some time. Attention was called to all Kentucky citizens to vote for the Constitutional Amendment at the proper time, so Kentucky could avail herself of the county, State and Federal aid for a better road system, which no doubt is one of the very best things for the future of Kentucky. Yours, K.

Politics in Farmers Institute.

Nothing could be more discreditable or more surely to destroy its influence than the injection of politics into the State Farmers' Institute. There were unmistakable evidences that this was done here this week. One of the evidences of it was shown in the large representation from the mountain counties. Twenty of these counties had delegates here when heretofore only three or four of these counties have been represented. Another evidence was to violate all precedent by taking from the Chairman and also from the district and selecting them by a resolution naming them from the floor of the Institute. The purpose of this was apparent. It was to defeat Mr. Moorhead of the Second District as a member of the State Board. Not because he was not efficient or faithful, but because he was a Democrat. The Republicans had a decided majority of the counties and they used the majority to accomplish their purposes which were in this particular of a partisan nature.—Elizabethtown News.

All Serene.

A country correspondent for a Kentucky newspaper once found himself in the mountains of that State looking for items of interest for his journal.

"There ain't a bit of news," said one farmer. "All down this way are too busy with their crops to think of anything else."

"Fine crops this year, eh?" asked the correspondent.

"Couldn't be better," asserted the farmer. "I ought to be in my field now, an' I would only I come to town to see the coroner."

"The coroner?"

"Yes; he's wanted to hold an inquest on a couple of fellows in our place."

"Accident?"

"I reckon not. Ran Morgann ain't doin' nothin' like that by accident. He got Jim Jeffords and his brother Tom with two shots. Got to have an inquest, though."

"What led to the fight?"

"Tler w'n't no fight. Ran never give the oether fellers any chance to make it a fight. Jes' hld behnd a tree and give it to 'em as they come along."

"Has Ran ben arrested?"

"No. What's the use? Some of the Jeffords people come along, burned down Ran's house, shot him an' his wife, and set fire to his barn. No, Ran ain't ben arrested. But I ain't got time to stand heah talkin' to you. Got to git back to my 'heav-in'. But tler n't any news down our way. Ef anything happens I'll let you know."—Harper's Weekly.

World Brand Silverware

Is Positively the Best on the Market

It comes to us direct from the manufacturers, thus saving the liberal profit allowed to jobbers by other makers. This line includes Knives, Forks & Spoons.

They are guaranteed to contain 50 per cent more silver than the Rogers' ware at the same price. This is possible because the purchaser does not pay a jobber's profit. There are very few homes that are too poor to afford a set of this silverware for use "when company comes" and every man owes it to his wife to provide it. There is nothing that will bring the same amount of satisfaction for the money. Once in a life time is all you have to buy World Brand Ware.

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

A bill passed in the legislature this week gives each and every Sheriff in the State regardless of the size of the county or the work required to be done, a uniform salary of $600 per year. This salary is in addition to the fees and commissions of the sheriff.

Judge J. B. Wilkinson received a telegram the first of last week informing him of the serious illness of his son. The Judge immediately left for his home, at Logan and the bar elected John S. Marcum as special Judge to complete the business of this term of circuit court for the Wayne district.

The Wayne Circuit Court appointed F. Frazier to fill the vacancy in the office of School Lands Commissioner caused by the resignation of W. A. Frazier. The New Commissioner accepted the appointment and gave the bond required by law and entered upon the discharge of the duties of his office.

The State Superintendent has set the following dates for holding the teachers' uniform examinations in the various counties of the state this year:

First—Thursday and Friday, May 30 and 31.
Second—Thursday and Friday, July 15 and 16.
Third—Thursday and Friday, September 9 and 10.

On account of a faulty indictment in the Wayne Circuit court the jury in the case of Joel Sammons for the murder of John Smith, brought in a verdict of not guilty at circuit court last week. The indictment accused Sammons of murdering John A. Smith, instead of John Smith. Sammons was remanded to jail and he will likely be indicted by the next grand jury for killing John Smith.

It is reported that Ex-Sheriff E. E. Musick has given an option on 400 acres of his valuable coal land in Big Creek to M. Z. White for 60 days. We understand that the sum of $5,000 was paid for this option and that the sum of $30,000 was agreed upon if the option was taken up. We presume that by paying such large sum for the option that the sale of the property will be consummated, in which case the property will be developed, which will help this county considerably.—Williamson News.

The Wayne Lodge, Knights of Pythias, celebrated the 45th anniversary of the founding of the order by giving addresses were made by the following Knights, J. D. Garrett and J. R. Keene at the court house to which all were invited and a large audience attended. After the speeches the Knights and their families repaired to the Casino where a banquet was spread for them.

A weird story of a terrible crime comes from up at Pence Springs, W. Va.

John Sexton, who formerly resided in this section, and has numerous relatives hereabouts, married a daughter of Marshall Atkins, who resides near Pence Springs, a few days ago, so the story goes, Mrs. Sexton returned to her father's home and reported that Sexton had murdered his little son and had escaped to parts unknown. Ashland Independent.

Smith Brothers of Catlettsburg, architects and contractors, Wednesday closed the contract with the county court of McDowell county, W. Va., for the erection of a new court house for that county. The building is to cost about $65,000 and outside of the few larger cities of the State, it will be the finest court house in the State.

The work is to begin right away—in fact the work of excavating has already begun.

Train No 16 narrowly escaped meeting with disaster Monday night at Roderfield when, speeding along at a rate of forty miles an hour, it caught a mail pouch from the crane at that place in which was found a package containing 1,000 nitro-glycerine caps. It was only through a miracle that the train, consisting of an engine, a mail car, baggage car, an express car, two coaches a dining car and a Pullman, saved from being blown into atoms and a hundred or more passengers killed by the force of the explosion which would have resulted if the caps had come in contact with the terrible force of the hook of the mail car when the pouch was snatched from the car. The package was marked "Dynamite" and was thought it got into the pouch at Roderfield through some mistake. The package was turned over to the Postoffice authorities at Bluefield as soon as the train arrived there.

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 26.—Colonel J. H. Patten, of Charleston, W. Va., is authority for the statement that the Coal & Coke Railroad Company will build a branch line from Cassaway to Sutton. Engineers have been sent over the route, and it is indicated that the work of construction will be started at once. This will mean the extension of the line along Elk river through Webster county. The vast timber and mineral wealth through which this road will pass is sufficient to induce its extension.

The Coal & Coke railroad is owned by Messrs. Davis, Elkins and associates, and it was reported some time ago that negotiations have been opened by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Gould interests for its purchase. The price asked by the present owners is said to be about $15,000,000.

West Virginia is to be congratulated upon the failure of its Legislature to enact into law the measures placing a production tax on coal, oil and gas. The purpose of the bills were to require producers of coal, oil and gas to pay into the State treasury a certain percentage of the gross value of their output. Naturally men interested in the material progress of the State, whether or not they were engaged directly in the enterprises affected, argued that at this time, when every effort should be put forward to bring new men and new money into West Virginia for the development of its natural resources, the legislative energies should not be directed toward hampering industry, enterprise and good faith of investors. Then, too, while the proposed tax appeared small to the non-producer, it would have been exceedingly onerous for property already assessed for State, county and district taxes in the same manner as other property. It was felt that the measures would have been but the entering wedge of a new line of taxation, removing the brakes upon any tendency to extravagant administration of the State's affairs. The measures were particularly menacing to the coal industry. West Virginia has much coal territory still to be developed. The railroad extension recently made and still in contemplation have opened up and will open up many new coal producing areas. But such facilities would have been for naught had the policy been adopted of placing a direct tax upon capital industry and enterprise, willing to take advantage of them. As well had a direct tax been placed upon the production of wheat and corn and peaches and cattle. It is hoped that the discussion of the proposition to tax the production of minerals will be the last to which West Virginia may be subjected and that other Southern States may follow West Virginia's wise example.—Manufacturers' Record.

The Rev. W. M. Washington, formerly rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, Ashland, but now pastor of St. John's Church, at Cuyahoga Falls, O., has recently been tendered a call to return to Ashland. This, however, he was compelled to decline as he had just dedicated a fine new church there, and he felt it would not be right or proper to make a change just at this time.

While in Ashland Mr. Washington frequently preached in Louisa, filling the office of pastor of the Episcopal mission in this city.

Talk of Col. Z. Taylor Vinson, formerly of Louisa, getting a place in Taft's Cabinet is in the air, and up at Huntington the people are in the seventh heaven in the hope that the rumor may come true.

ADVANTAGES

Of Education Shown by Statistics
Gathered by K. N. C. Student.

We wish to call your attention to the following article in the second edition of "Who's Who in America" which contains, without eulogy, criticism, or comment 500 pages of brief biographies of persons now living in America having become noted as factors in the progress and achievement in the age. "Endeavor has been made," say the editors, "to include all Americans of more than local note in all lines of useful effort." No name is inserted or omitted for financial consideration. With a view of determining what effect education of the various grades has had on success in life, effort was to ascertain the school training of each of these men and women, of "more than local note," and 7,851 on their United States list were thus educationally classified. According to the best estimate we can make from the latest census returns there are in the United States 40,782,007 persons over twenty-one years old.

These are divided educationally about as follows:
Class 1—Without school training 4,682,498.
Class 2—With only common school training, 32,862,955.
Class 3—With common high school training, 2,165,257.
Class 4—With college or higher education, 1,971,201.

Now the question is: How many of the eight thousand distinguished citizens of the United States on the Who's list came from each of these classes?

The 4,682,498 of class 1 furnished, 31.

The 32,862,651 of class 2 furnished, 808.

The 2,165,357 of class 3 furnished 1,245.

The 1,971,201 of class 4 furnished, 5,563.

It thus appears.

1. That an uneducated has one chance in 150,000 of attaining distinction as a factor in the progress of the age.

2. That a common school training will increase the chances of the common school boy twenty-three times, giving him 87 times the chance of the uneducated.

3. That a college education increases the chance of a high school boy nine times, thus giving him 219 times the chance of a common school boy, and more than 800 times the chance of the untrained.

It is a noteworthy fact that of 7,552, "notables" thus gathered 4,000 proved to be full graduates of colleges.

Are you going to Harvard this year if so have you the $1200 that is required? Read what one of the Professors say, "Every dollar above $1,200 a year spent by a young man in college is a dollar in danger."

Twelve hundred a year, to be sure. Young men who are willing or able to spend that much money each year while in college are often themselves a menace to the school they attend. The schools that are training the really great of the future are those whose students cannot afford to spend annually as a rule the half of $1200.

Why not enter the K. N. C. for a year and save $1,000, and economize your valuable time. E. W. P.

To the Voters of Lawrence Co.

I am a candidate for Jailer, put out by the leading men of the county. The primary is so close at hand that I can't see you all. I will have 15 men ride over the county for the "Hustler." I have the inside track, relatives all over the county, 550 Packs, Wheelers and relatives in this country. All the little boys in this country are whistling and singing for Pack. I have good faith that I will win by a large vote. There are two opponents in Blaine that promise me a year ago that they would not run against an afflicted man. I insisted on them several times taking a ballot box and take their choice on a piece of paper in secret. If I can't get a majority of 250 in our two home precincts over both of them that I would come off, but they won't let home settle it. I am 49 years old and never asked for any kind of office before. I asked these two opponents if they would come I would never be in their way again. Misfortune overtook me when I was 21 years old. The Wheelers are brothers-in-law and nephews of mine, except one Wheeler who lives at Ollioville, who is related to one of my opponents. I have people in the lower end of the county that don't know me. Old George Pack, of Wayne county, W. Va., is my grandfather, and he married a Lane. I will say to one and all that I will furnish my own fuel for cooking purposes, and it will save the county a big expense. I will establish a meat market some place in Louisa and will pay 3c per pound for all old fat cows, and 8c per pound for dressed hogs. I will ship the stuff to machine shops men who get from $5 to $8 per day. I learned this while I was in business in Ashland. I want to hire four good citizens to help me carry out this business. It will be of interest to all Louisa people and all the country people for I know every hog path.

All the little boys of Lawrence county should get busy. I will fix them so they can make $3 per day after school hours. This is facts. I will explain to all when I come around. I will pay for muskrats, 30c for No. 1, No. 2 20c and 25c till the first day of April and after that date at a fair value till the 15th day of April. All citizens in my two home precincts, take notice, and vote for your interest, and you will do justice to yourselves and your boys.

So come out and vote for me and I will never give you cause to regret it.

Your support is very respectfully ask for.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Miss Lillie Owen, Deputy Sheriff of Christian County has returned from Frankfort, where she made a settlement with State Auditor James for Sheriff Renshaw.

Miss Owen has charge of the books in the Sheriff's office here and is one of the most popular officials in Western Kentucky. She has served as a Deputy Sheriff for six years under both Democratic and Republican administrations, and her friends say she could be elected high Sheriff on any ticket.

To see Miss Owen in a crowd of young women it would be difficult to guess her official position, but she knows how to shoulder a shotgun or carry a revolver to protect the people's property if need be. She has executed summonses and other papers and made arrests just the same as any man Deputy Sheriff in the State.

The only other woman Deputy Sheriff in Kentucky is Miss Lillie Davis, in Jefferson county, in the office of Sheriff C. L. Scholl.

Plowing is the order of the day. Quarterly meeting will be held at Trinity church the 3rd Sunday in this month.

There were three baptized at this place Sunday. Mrs. Frank Short, Floyd Haines and Jake Neal. James Leming and family left Monday for Huette, where they will make their future home.

V. B. Shortridge, of this place, was married to Miss Georgia Coburn, of Denton Wednesday.

John Church is mail carrier now. We have just heard of the death of Jake Neal. He was one of the old settlers and resided here until four years ago, when he moved to Ohio where he died the first of this month.

C. T. Miller is going to work for W. V. Roberts on Cat.

James Enyart sold $38.20 worth of fur to Buckley and Neal last week. He caught it all in the past month. It contained skunk, mink, coon and opossum.

Eliza Wright, of Buchanan, was here on business one day last week.

Enoch Caudle was through here last week shaking hands with friends.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Sam Porter, assistant principal of the Prestonsburg public school, will close his school Friday and in a few days will leave for Oberlin, Ohio, to enter a dental college there.

Little Sandy was on a rampage last week, doing considerable damage all along its course, to fences, etc., and the low lands being overflowed.

Doc Stephens, formerly our cashier of the First National Bank, has leased a valuable tract of coal land just above Alonzo, and will commence to operate same at once. He reports that he will be shipping coal by April 1st.—Prestonsburg Herald.

The doctors of Maysville have announced a raise in rates of from 25 to 50 per cent over old prices. They will also charge for visits outside the city, $1 per mile in the day time, and $2 per mile at night. Every physician in the city has signed the new scale.

Wayne Hunt, who was shot some time ago, returned from Ironton, where he has been undergoing treatment for the last 30 days at the hospital. Notwithstanding that his wound was considered fatal, yet, thanks to skilled treatment, his life has been preserved. He is still very weak, yet he is slowly but surely recovering.—Prestonsburg Herald.

Hon. L. P. Mayo and family will leave for Boyd county, this week, where they intend to make their future home. Mr. Mayo sold his handsome town residence to C. C. Cline, who has just recently moved into same. With others of his numerous friends in Prestonsburg and Floyd county, we deeply regret Mr. Mayo's departure, but we hope many thanks for his future, and trust that he will have a full measure of success among a host of new friends, which he is sure to have.—Prestonsburg Herald.

Pikeville, Ky., Feb. 25.—Pikeville is shrouded in a gloom this morning on account of the death of Mrs. Lillian Williamson last night at 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Williamson's death had been expected for several weeks. She had for two years been a sufferer from tuberculosis of the kidneys, and had for a year been utterly beyond hope. She was the wife of J. L. Williamson, who for many years was Superintendent of schools of Pike county.

Wm. Bates, of Knott county, who was recently arrested at Russell, charged with passing a fake check on Chas. Miller of that town, while in Ashland last July, and who was held in the city jail there for several days, later being sent to the county jail at Catlettsburg to await the action of the grand jury, has been turned over to the Floyd county authorities.

It was on the Prestonsburg Bank that so many bad checks were drawn presumably by Bates, under the name of "James C. Caudill." He also, when first arrested gave his name as Wm. Wiley Hall.

One of the candidates for the Republican nomination for County Judge of Letcher county publishes a card in the Whitesburg Eagle advocating his claims, and among other things says:

"I have tried since becoming a Justice of the Peace to be present at all places of religious worship and other public gatherings in order to preserve the peace, and if elected County Judge I will make this a specialty throughout the county."

Frank J. Donaldson, an inspector for the Columbia Gas and Oil Company, met a horrible death near Riverton, a small station on the C. & O., a few miles below Greasup, last week.

The unfortunate man, who had been with the Columbia people for something over a month was at the company's camps in the discharge of his duties and remained over night. He had a sleeping apartment in one of the tents for the night. He went to sleep at the usual hour and did not awaken until the morning only to find himself wrapped in destroying flames. The tent which he occupied had been given a coat of paraffine in order to make it more comfortable. The watchman had started a fire in the stove having used wood for kindling it. It is said that sparks from the stove falling on top of the tent set it on fire and before it was discovered the entire tent was enveloped in flames. When the situation was discovered by those on the outside they ran to the scene and would have made an effort to subdue the flames, but already had the flames gained such headway that the tent was ready to fall in.

By this time the man within had awakened, and though every stitch of his clothing was on fire he got upon his feet and dashed madly through the scorching fire reached the outside and ran some distance when he fell exhausted.

The excited crowd of laborers gathered about him and soon managed to put the fire out but not before the body was burned into an unrecognizable mass. The man was taken at once to Riverton, three miles away, where physicians had already been called, but he died soon after reaching the town, without having recovered consciousness.

Webbville.

LUNG HEMORRHAGES

(I TOOK PE-RU-NA.)

MISS NINETTE PORTER.

Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna Almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He kindly gave me free advice."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky, substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

A Bad Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for curing me."

"For two years I doctored my cough, which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep."

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.
